RE: Docket No. 00N-1396, and 00D-1598

Dear Dr. Schwetz,

I don't care how safe a food producer or the US Government says GE foods are. PERHAPS these foods are safe in the short run. NOBODY knows that they are not damaging to health and life in the long run.

I have the right to know what I'm putting into my body whether or not a food producer doesn't want to tell me because it might impair profits. My government acknowledges this right in that it requires labeling of the ingredients of commercially marketed foods. It is a betrayal of my rights if GE food ingredients are not mandatorially required to be listed on these labels. It is my understanding that most other developed governments have this requirement.

Sincerely,

George Kallman
